Jeb,

Based upon the BOP's review, the J-19 mod changes are for industry updates that is the responsibility of the contractor. The contract states that the contractor should anticipate industry changes during the life of the contract. Therefore, the BOP is not responsible for reimbursements for this contract change.

Additionally, the BOP is providing the information below (see attached PDF) in regards to the HP6300 Pro computer they have listed as the one they will purchase.

"The HP 6300 Pro computer is acceptable but it uses the "i3" low end of the Intel Processors: for example there are 3 Intel processors available of this computer (i3; i5 and i7) the i3 is the lowest performance of the 3 processors which is what is proposed in their configuration. Additionally, the proposed configuration cost is shown as $900.00 per computer.

The attached PDF shows the technical specifications for a similarly configured HP 6300 Pro (Windows 7 64 bit) with the upgraded Intel i5 processor for $684.00 per computer. Go to the following HP link. "

I hope this clears up all of the issues surrounding the J-19 modifications. If you have any additional questions or concerns please let me know,

Mike
